DAYTON—(Associated Press)—

Details by which Prosecuting Attorney Albert H. Scharrer hoped to identify George "Red" McGahan having been arrested in several her cities, were barred from evidence today as McGahan's trial for robbery of the West Carrollton bank approximately $25,000 in cash bonds on April 10, 1920, ended into its second day.

Judge Robert C. Patterson, concluding the trial, ruled that police from Erie, Pa., and Louisville, Ky., might identify McGahan pointing him out in the court if they could. This they did. Miss Alice Reitdyke, assistant of the West Carrollton bank, Miss Elizabeth Oberer, a customer, both asserted they could still member McGahan's face from the glimpse they obtained as he closed to the vault door upon him.

ROBBERY CHARGE IS SAID

May Also Be Member of Everhardt Gang, Authorities Say

Capture of a man said to be "Shorty the Bum", alias "Shorty" Lennard, alleged member of the Everhardt gang, was made by Sheriff Crosson in a running gun battle staged near the courthouse Saturday. Lennard, broke away from custody in the county jail office as he was being searched. He ran thru the dining room, leaped out the west door of the sheriff's residence and ran cross lots toward the Pennsylvania railroad.

He was run to earth, wounded, at the Lima Ice & Coal Co. plant in N. Elizabeth-st. Sheriff Crosson who pursued him lone handed to the finish, demonstrated skill as a marksman as well as a foot racer.

TELEGRAM SENT.

The man sent a wire to Harry Everhardt, at the county jail Friday, not knowing he was at Kenton jail.

The message sent from Dayton read:

"Harry Everhardt, county jail."

"Heard about it today, coming right away. Shorty."

Suspecting that the man might be a pal, Crosson was on the lookout for him when he came to the jail Saturday.

"You can't see Harry," he told the visitor.

After some talk, Crosson decided that it might be well to hold the man for investigation. He drew a revolver on him and compelled him to submit to a search.

No revolver was found on the prisoner. Don Crosson, 17, son of

New York Woman Tried on Charge of Slaying Husband

VERDICT LOUDLY CHEERED

Release and Conviction Prayed for By Rivals

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—

Mrs. Essie Gross, 25, was acquitted of the murder of her husband, Irving, last night, in a few minutes more than an hour after the case had been given to the general sessions jury.

The acquittal came as rival groups of relatives prayed for release or conviction of the woman, and was followed by a demonstration of her friends that could only be stilled by the interference of the police, who escorting the shouting celebrants from the criminal courts building.

As the jury deliberated, friends and relatives of the accused woman held a Jewish religious service in an adjoining court room while relatives of the slain man prayed for her conviction in the corridor.

Gross was killed in his Bronx apartment last December. The wife's defense was that her husband was accidentally shot as they struggled over Gross' alleged maltreatment of her.

TAX BILL WILL BE FINISHED TODAY

Measure to Be Taken Up in Senate Next Week

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—

A new tax bill, the one that finally will become law, will be written next week on the floor of the Senate. The Senate Finance Committee planned to finish late tonight its three weeks' work on the measure, passed by the house.

The new bill, as finally passed, probably will provide for a 40 per cent maximum sur tax instead of the 44 per cent of the house bill.

Atmospheric agreement for this revision has been reached between progressives and Democrats who can control the Senate.

The committee bill embodied the Mellon rates but even the most optimistic Republican members of the committee have no hope that these will survive the Senate in their detail.

Samuel Kundert, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kundert, 790 S Metcalf-st, miraculously escaped instant death Friday when he fell head first from a second-story window at his home to the cement pavement, a distance of 14 feet.

The boy has a two inch cut on his forehead above the left eye. The side of his face is bruised and the upper lip cut. An X-ray showed there is no fracture.

Recovery is predicted by the attending physician who announced Saturday that the child's condition is serious. The boy has lapsed into unconsciousness three times since the accident. The spells are of short duration only and are believed caused by a slight blood clot on the brain at the deep cut.

MIRROR CAUSE

Just how the child fell out of the open window has not been established, but the mother believes the boy walked thru the opening while looking into a hand mirror which was found at his side when the mother picked the unconscious child from a pool of blood on the

AROUSED BY JUDGE KILLITS'

Attack "Doesn't Represent Thinkers," Atty. Gen. Says

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—

Attorney General Crabbe replying today to a letter made public last night by the Ohio Association of Justices of the Peace condemning his suggestion that Justices of the peace be abolished, declared that "had the vicious practices which I am seeking to eliminate continued for another year a most deplorable condition would have existed."

The letter declared that Attorney General Crabbe was responsible for most of the practices complained of, for, the letter said, "you are the proud and boastful father of the Crabbe act; you are the godfather of the Miller law and you have served in the capacity of wet nurse for the Volstead law."

AROUSED FROM LETHARGY

The association asserted that conditions complained of have existed ever since the attorney general's "pet baby," the Crabbe act, became effective and that he winked at the condition until "a real man," Judge Killits, was appointed to the bench.

TEST OF BOOZE IS COMPLETED

Discrepancy Discovered in Kaufman Stock, Claimed

NO EXTRA GUARDS ON DUTY

Liquor So Stored As to Make Theft Nearly Impossible

Samples taken from 13 kegs of wine and whisky confiscated during the raid at the Vapo stove factory, E. Kirby st. and Vanderville av., revealed it is not the same described in an application for its return filed by J. T. Kaufman, owner. Sheriff Crosson declared Saturday.

Kaufman claimed in his application that the stock seized comprised two kegs of sherry wine, two kegs of port wine, and nine kegs of whisky.

Check up made by officers Saturday revealed that there are two 10-gallon kegs of sherry wine, one 10-gallon keg of port wine and ten 10-gallon kegs of whisky.

Although the application for the return of the stock has already been denied by Judge J. H. Hamilton, county authorities say discovery of the error will still further invalidate Kaufman's claim. Judge Hamilton found the stock was not protected by a permit.

Opinions of chemists may be enlisted to determine if it is possible for one keg of port wine thru aging to turn to whisky.

WINE CHARGES

It is well known, chemists say, that wine if allowed to age under the right surroundings will turn to vinegar.

Many home vinters have discovered this metamorphosis to their sorrow.

But the transformation of a keg of wine into whisky which judging from Kaufman's application seems to have occurred is believed to be the first case on record. It is as strange a miracle as the turning of water to wine.

Or it can be that while stored at the stove works of the Ohio Steel foundry, someone substituted a keg of whisky for the keg of port wine offered a keg.

Sheriff Crosson and state prohibition men, after puzzling over the matter, discarded all theories and came to the conclusion that the wine has neither changed into whisky or one keg substituted for another. They believe that the owner does not know of just what his stock consists.

TEST IMPENDS

Chemical tests were made Saturday of portions of the Joe Cousins' stock, authorities wish to learn the character of a five gallon jug of alleged gin found in his suite.

They believe that analysis will show it is synthetic, and therefore illegal.

A claim that much of his wine stock was intended for sacramental purposes, may be advanced by Cousins' lawyers. All of the Carmel wine, a brand imported from Palestine, is so labeled and marked with Hebrew symbols, believed to indicate that it has been set aside for religious purposes.

Under the law, sacramental wine is legal, but a permit must be obtained for its possession.

No extra guards have been placed at the county jail to protect the liquors stored there. Sheriff Crosson emphatically declared Saturday.

Practically all of the Kaufman and Cousins' stocks are stored in the attic of the residence in cells occasionally used for confining women or juvenile prisoners.

The cells are three flights up and Sheriff Crosson carries the keys.

Reception Held at White House for Students' Conference

150 SCHOOLS REPRESENTED

Prohibition Enforcement Chief Topic of Discussion

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press) — The students' conference on law observance and citizenship began here today with a reception at the White House and a number of addresses dealing chiefly with prohibition enforcement.

About 150 educational institutions throughout the country named students to attend the conference which was arranged by the citizens' committee of one thousand as a climax to a large number of separate meetings of undergraduates men and women held recently to consider the same subjects.

Law violations by students and residents of adjacent communities formed one of the main topics for study, and policies relating to this and other law observance problems are to be worked out for recommendation to every college and university in America.

The Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, dean of the Catholic University at Washington, speaking today, declared a "genuine patriotism of peace" was the outstanding need of the nation and described the "enormous propaganda" in favor of the Mellon tax plan as an attempt to mislead the masses, saying the arguments advanced for its adoption were "incredibly dishonest" or "deplorably ignorant."

the Sheriff was guarding a door leading from the office into the dining room.

As the father completed the search, he left his post to open the massive iron door leading to the jail. Crosson turned to lay the prisoner's belongings away.

SEEKS FREEDOM

With a sudden leap, "Shorty" bounded thru the door, across the hallway and across the dining room.

Mrs. Grace Crosson, jail matron, attempted to obstruct his flight by striking at him with a broom, and kicking a chair in his way. The blow failed to land and the fugitive leaped over the chair, and thru the door to freedom.

Sheriff Crosson fired as the man ran across a vacant lot and around the Auto Laundry garage. He stumbled and fell with a bullet wound in his right arm.

Three more shots were fired, one taking effect in the muscle of the right breast.

The chase led thru the alley and across back yards Elizabeth and Wayne-sts. and ended at the ice factory a block north.

Physicians called to the jail dressed the wounds. He was not taken to the hospital.

The best factory conditions, the best stores, the best streets and public services and the best working conditions for the workers all go to advance the common good of Lima. Good working conditions will keep our workers at home, good stores will keep our trade at home. If we divide our interests with the larger cities, we are just taking that much away from the development of our own city and in the end injuring ourselves. Whenever a question arises the considerations must always be the advancing of the best interests of all. Good working conditions will keep our workers at home, good stores will keep our trade at home. If we divide our interests with the larger cities, we are just taking that much away from the development of our own city and in the end injuring ourselves. Whenever a question arises the consideration must always be the advancing of the best interests of all. This is the spirit of co-operation and if it guides us in the future programs of our city, it will make the fruits of our progress go to bless not only a part but all the people of our city. WHAT IS "NORMALCY"?

Back in the stirring days of 1920, when two great parties were striving for control of political affairs of the nation, we heard a great deal about a "return to normalcy."

Many and varied have been the explanations of the phrase, but the best answer comes, via the New York Times, from the pen of Elmer Davis, exactly three years after the political party which used it so generously came into power.

Davis answers the question in this fashion, combining truth with satire, and ridicule with condemnation:

All that has happened is the fruit of normalcy—of the doctrine that it's always fair weather when good fellows get together, and that a good fellow undefiled by any taint of intellect is good enough to be trusted with the conduct of the nation's business. He may trade off a billion dollars' worth of oil for a hundred thousand dollars' worth of concrete and barbed wire fence; he may sign contracts without reading them, or reading the protests against them; but if he is a good mixer and a good story teller, he is alright. That is normalcy, and it is turning out as we might have expected."

The arraignment is none too severe, in the light of what has been occurring, to demand the most vigorous probe of so many departments of government activities, after the "normalcy" crowd has been feeding at the public crib only three years.

BACK YONDER IN YOUTH

How did the wishbone get its reputation as a symbol of good luck? Long ago, probably, when a man still was in the savage state. At a meal, whoever got the wishbone got the best part of the fowl—the white meat of the breast.

Rivalry for the breast of the fowl must have caused many a tussle. You can picture two barbarians at a prehistoric boarding house, both reaching for the breast at the same time. Grasping this part of the fowl's anatomy, one was bound to emerge with a larger piece of meat than his rival.

Possibly, in this, is the origin of the custom of breaking a wishbone, the lucky winner of the large section having got what he wished for.

All supposition, of course. But the wishbone's reputation as an emblem of good luck is older than recorded history.

You recall how, in childhood, you were eager to get the wishbone. It was a real prize, even if its value was imaginary.

Today, with childhood years behind you and gradually being dimmed by the mists of the past, you probably wouldn't give a cent for a basket of wishbones.

Behold, here, a great loss. For firm belief in a wishbone, as a bringer of luck, is an illusion. And when we lose our illusions, there is not much left in life.

The wishbone is not the only illusion we lose as we grow older. What would you not give for the lost thrills and illusions of youth? Our minds run along this channel at this time of year, as spring advances. Spring is the season of youth—and its symbol.

Oh, for the thrill of the first spring plunge into the old swimming hole! Or the walk thru the woods, gathering the first flowers as nature awakens after her long sleep. A bird, soaring skyward, means little or nothing now; in youth, it was a thrill.

Life gets duller as we grow older. Nature, kindly, removes us from the stage before life gets too dull.

As old age approaches, the human tendency is to lose faith in nearly everything, as we already have lost faith in the wishbone's magic power. Youth is faith—hope—illusion—imagination—mythical values. Old age is a state of mind—the disappointment of disillusion.

RICHES OF OUR NATION

The national wealth of our country now is about $20 billion dollars, according to the way Uncle Sam figures it, including money, real estate, autos, homes, farm animals, mines, oil under the earth, railroads, etc.

If all this were divided evenly, there'd only be about $3000 for every man, woman and child. How much does your combined family average below or above this figure? An error in the government estimate is that it doesn't include the greatest form of national wealth—man power. Without human labor, all other forms of wealth are worthless. Labor is the beginning and the end, Alpha and Omega.

THE CORN BORER

The corn crop now is imperiled by the "borer" insect, just as cotton by the boll weevil.

The corn borer came from Europe. It was discovered first in our country in 1917 among broom corn of eastern Massachusetts. Attempts to "quarantine" it failing. The borer is moving westward into the big corn belt at the rate of 100 miles a year. It is said to be the most difficult of plant life pests to combat.

A titanic struggle between man and insect life is getting under way. So far, insects have not become as great a menace as disease bacteria—plant life, cousins of toadstools.

A Desirable Government

In all the countries devastated by war, plundered by big business, politicians and ravaged by lawlessness, sufferers of famine and pestilence, we hear the cry of millions for help. They are helpless, their enemies are many. They fight against themselves and do not recognize a friend. They have no one to look to. Their old order of society is gone, their kings, financial and economic conditions as well.

"What Is a Desirable Government?"

Hear Mr. W. A. Thrutchley, of Mansfield, Ohio

If You Want To Know

some of the things before this great country, the greatest on the face of the earth.

Is it just and righteous? Is it worth to stand? Who are its enemies?

Will the new government be world wide?

Who will be its ruler? Will he have the authority?

Will he have the power? Will he have the right?

The committee in charge were pleased to name Mr. Thrutchley who is a talented and interesting speaker.

If you are tired of debauchery, intrigue and sedition, if you are tired of being hoodwinked by big business, politicians and others, if you really want something better, it is coming.

If you want to know—

The PICTURE SECTION will bring photos of people and events from all over the world—reproduced in rich, lustrous tints of Rotogravure on high grade paper—far superior to any hitherto used in The Chicago Tribune. The MAGAZINE SECTION will bring brilliant stories—first-run fiction—never before published. These two new, large sections replace the Colorado Magazine supplement which has been discontinued.

Beginning tomorrow, you will get a bigger, better Chicago Sunday Tribune. There will be no increase in price! But the demand will be greater than ever. You are urged, therefore, to telephone your newsdealer today to reserve a copy for you.
